BEGINNERS

Friday 16 & Saturday 17 March

“Christopher Plummer is superb as the 75-year-old who comes out of the closet after his wife’s death.” The Guardian

A delightful romantic comedy starring Ewan McGregor as a young man who finds his world rocked by two announcements from his elderly father: one he has terminal cancer, two he has a young male lover.

JULIE & JULIA – MOTHER’S DAY

Sunday 18 March

“Julie and Julia is easily Nora Ephron’s best film since When Harry Met Sally.” The Telegraph

Treat Mum to brunch in Indigo followed by this charming film telling the story of Julia Child’s start in the cooking profession. The story is cleverly intertwined with blogger Julie Powell’s 2002 challenge to cook all the recipes from Child’s first book.

Make mother’s day with Sunday brunch in Indigo with a glass of Champagne before watching this charming foodie film.

£42.50 per person including VAT and service charge.
